The following collection of hymn books, hymnals, Gospel song books, and sheet music reflects the range of music used by Patterson Church, Toronto throughout the years. In fact, this collection, which represents a majority of the music that formed Patterson Church's choir library, was acquired by the Museum as an example of the range of music that would have been used by a "typical" Canadian Presbyterian Church's organist/choir director and choir during the 20th century.

"Chalmers United Church / 1878-1978" - Chalmers United Church, Chatham Township, n.w. of Eberts, Ont. - formerly Presbyterian - s.e. corner of Caledonia Road and Brook Line - although this church was located about 2 miles away from the hamlet of Eberts, it was often referred to as Chalmers Church, Eberts - built in 1878 - church closed in ca. 2005? – interestingly, it narrowly missed being closed by the Presbyterian Church in ca. 1919 A famed son of this congregation was Edmund Henry Oliver. Rev. Dr. E. H. Oliver became the professor of history and economics at the University of Saskatchewan as well as the principal of the fledgling St. Andrew's (Presbyterian) College affiliated with the university. He left the university and enlisted in May, 1916 as Chaplain of the 196 th Western Universities Battalion. Dr. Oliver established the University of Vimy Ridge in France (a.k.a. the Khaki College of Canada) during the winter of 1917-18. Dr. Oliver later served a term as Moderator of the United Church of Canada from 1930 until 1932. Quite amazingly, this modest little church was also the home church of Rev. A. B. Simpson, former minister of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. While he was minister of Knox Presbyterian Church, Hamilton, Ont. from 1865 through 1873, it had the largest congregation of the denomination in Canada. He later moved to the United States, becoming the minister at Chestnut Street Presbyterian Church, Louisville, Kentucky followed by the pastorate at Thirteenth	Ian Mason

ceremonial beaded belt, ca. 1920s-1930s

Mrs. Mary Rutledge

- floral and foliage pattern - red and beige rose of Sharon flowers, beige buds, green stems - a cross at each end of belt is executed in green, yellow and blue beads outlined with red beads
- yellow beaded background - red cotton backing stitched onto belt
- length: 83 cm
- presented to Rev. Crump by the chief of the reserve to which he was ministering in thanks for his missionary service among them

beaded belt , ca. 1920s-1930s

Mrs. Mary Rutledge

- narrow belt - alternating cross and 'x' pattern - cross is executed in blue with a central amber line - 'x' is executed in beige bordered with garnet beads - a red cross and 6 conjoined miniature crosses terminate the pattern on each end
- the 6 miniature crosses are executed in garnet with a central grey line
- chromed metal clasp
- length: 80 cm
- formerly belonged to Mrs. Phoebe Andrews (née Crump), the mother of Mary Rutledge - it was possibly presented to Phoebe when she was a girl, the daughter of Rev. Crump

Above items belonged to the Rev. Harry Crump (1880-1969), who served as a Presbyterian missionary among First Nations in Manitoba, which included: the Rolling River Reserve (1925-1930); Lizard Point Reserve near Rosburn (1932-1943); a return to the Rolling River Reserve (1943-1950); and Sioux Village Reserve (a.k.a. Dakota Tipi Reserve) near Portage la Prairie (1950-1961).

Rev. Crump was ordained on June 26, 1953 in Portage La Prairie, Manitoba. This ordination honoured Rev. Crump's many years of dedication. (Acts and Proceedings, 1953). In 1961, Rev. Crump retired.

Rev. Marion B. MacKay

- a character with a body comprised of coarse brown wool
- an oversized straw "ball" covers its torso and part of its head and face - some of the straw is coloured an orange-red and purple
- a three-layered cape is fastened on the back; upper and lower layers are yellow silk-like fabric with the middle layer being a white cotton - a crown representative of the top portion of a three-crested shield is fastened at the top of the straw ball - the crown is decorated with gold foil - the feet are covered with smaller straw balls coloured in the same way as the straw ball around the torso
- local Nigerian handiwork representative of traditional African religions
- used by Rev. Donald MacKay during his deputation work in Canada

wall hanging, straw

Rev. Marion B. MacKay

- black figure brandishing a machete-like weapon in its right hand and holding a bow and arrow (?) in its left hand - it is wearing an oversized green wreath-shaped item on its torso (probably reflective of the same kind of adornment as the straw ball indicates in the straw figure above) - the figure is wearing a skirt comprised of alternating light blue and red panels to which is attached a gold-coloured pouch - there is a gold-coloured sash
- on the top of its head appears what to be is a brown pot
- bottom of the wall-hanging features a long fringe of loose straw
- based on its threatening look, this may represent some sort of demon in an animist religion
- local Nigerian handiwork representative of traditional African religions
